

Realising Project Intelligence™

Energising project managers for delivery

Frameworks, tools, techniques
Project skills training
Professional qualifications
Soft skills coaching

Consistent delivery and assured performance?

Methods such as PRINCE, MSP, APM and PMP standardise 'what' project managers should do. Techniques for handling people come through soft skills training and experience. Even together they do not take into account how organisations operate or the specifics of the required business or technology change.

Project managers are expected to 'do the right thing at the right time' – something for which there has traditionally been no teaching, training or coaching, save experience.

METHODS DO NOT GUARANTEE SUCCESS

Despite the adoption of new processes, methods, tools/ techniques and despite the investment in relationships, leadership and people management... project failure rates are unacceptably high.

HOW TO BUILD PROJECT SUCCESS THROUGH YOUR PEOPLE?

Methods and process training provide a common framework. They do not teach project managers how to manage a successful project.

PROJECT INTELLIGENCE™

Success can be assured with Project Intelligence™. It is the basis for all our rescue and assurance projects. We are now teaching clients' project teams what it is that we do when we rescue projects and assure project integrity.

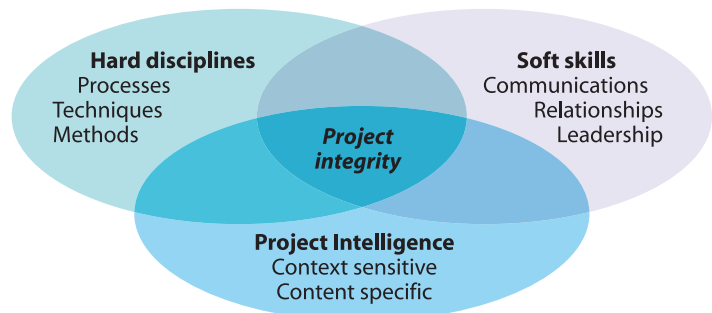

PRAGMATIC GOAL BASED LEARNING

- Energised teams.
- Increased willingness to accept/drive change.
- Greater leadership.
- Improved sponsor relations.
- Smarter planning.

Introducing Project Intelligence™

Project Intelligence is a combination of skill, instinct, technique and experience. It is the application of hard discipline and soft skills in a context sensitive and content specific way.

Project intelligence is the key to Pellicam's success in delivering complex change programmes.

A new approach to Project Management

Pellicam has designed a two day workshop with the aim of supporting experienced project managers and injecting project intelligence into their daily practices. Up to 12 delegates attend the workshop - filled with pragmatic advice, real life examples, significant active learning and a challenging and entertaining case study.

Project challenges we address include:

- alignment to corporate strategies and cultures
- inspirational leadership and high-performing teams
- the use and abuse of customer/supplier relationships
- robust business cases and assured benefit delivery
- dynamically managing corporate uncertainty
- proactively managing scope and complexity
- initiating effective governance
- injecting realism into comprehensive and consistent plans
- launching and maintaining a clear communication strategy
- actively managing milestone deliverables
- and understanding 'what success looks like' at every stage.

Pragmatic, intelligent, active learning

- Engenders the right behaviours: precision, integrity, personal responsibility.
- Focuses on the important issues - how to shape, plan, deliver and implement a successful project, illustrates how to identify the common pitfalls, ensures direction and remedy when the going gets tough, encourages to act positively, personal ownership and resolution of key problems.
- We follow-up on a one-to-one basis to ensure learning is understood and applied in the workplace.
- Proven to deliver specific improvements in personal and project performance.
- Delivered by experts in project rescue and recovery.

What our clients say...

"The quality of training for our project management group is very important to us. We were looking for a training programme focusing on project management disciplines and leadership skills, and the Pelicam workshop really hit the mark. Our project managers provided excellent feedback on the course content, the credibility of the trainer and the value of Pelicam's unique follow up approach."

Arthur Amos, Head of IT Planning & Governance at Nationwide Building Society

"The facilitator inspired us to go back and redefine our projects; he acted as the voice of reason. He invigorated the delegates and motivated us to think long and hard about how to run a project well."

John Walsh, Project Manager at British Gas Residential

"Delivered with real passion; highly interactive, really good fun..."

... it is reassuring that the real issues about project failure are starting to be better understood."

Alan Ogrizovic, Senior Projects Manager at Royal Mail Group.
